Présentation de l'éditeur

Journalist Frank Browning, who has shared personal narratives in his books Culture of Desire and A Queer Geography, now turns his attention to the spiritual world, particularly the intersection of sexuality and religion. A casual pick up of an unnamed priest of the Dominican order in a Paris art gallery leads to an affair, which in turn serves as the basis for Browning's provocative conversation with the closeted clergyman. Accessible in tone and content, this is a personal engagement between two profoundly different gay men.
